

BACKSPACE

DROWNING OUT YOUR MUM'S DYSON

Conceived to the sounds of early 80's new wave, BACKSPACE suckled on the rich milk of Brit Pop before being weaned on their first solids of The Libertines and Arctic Monkeys. Now sick of a life drowned out by household appliances they've broken loose and want to regurgitate their mixed-up childhood diet in your earholes.

A band I know John Peel would have fully championed for their energy, pure quality, and beautiful simplicity would be young fresh Leeds band Backspace

Halfway to Nowhere

I was hugely impressed, if they can do this now the future holds something quite quite huge.

Local Sound Focus

Hopefully Backspace will fly. If they don't it will be the music industry's and our loss.

Neil March (Fresh on the Net moderator)

You guys sound great ♥

Bang Bang Romeo

Backspace are ending 2018 in the way they began it; style and sass in spades and not afraid to carve their own niche in the local music scene.

It can only get better in 2019 for this band.
